Introduction

It is important that your child is prepared for their blood test as they may have questions, fears and anxieties regarding the procedure - this leaflet will help you explain what will happen during their short visit to the blood clinic.

Information for patients

On Arrival

On arrival please report to the receptionist on Disney Ward or the nurse in Children's outpatients. If your child is over 10 please report to Pathology Reception on 'A' floor outpatient department. A nurse will then complete a short form in order to check your child's details with you and ensure the blood form is completed correctly. Please do not hesitate to ask any questions, however trivial you may think they are. The parents needs to bring their child's blood form as if they do not bring the form their child's bloods will not be done that day and a new appointment will have to be made.

How is a blood test done?

- Before your child has his / her blood test we can either spray with a numbing spray this numbs the skin, is very short acting and the bloods will be taken immediately after the child's skin has been sprayed

Or

- We can put some local anaesthetic cream ("magic cream") on the back of both hands and sometimes on the inside of the elbows. This will be covered by a transparent plaster. The cream numbs the skin and vein, ready for when the needle is put in - it can take up to an hour to work so you may take your child for a walk around the hospital, or take your child for a drink within the hospital, or your child can stay and play in the Play area. If local anaesthetic is requested we encourage them to come one hour before their allocated time slot so the cream can be applied
- Your child will be introduced to the nurse and a nursery nurse or health care assistant before the blood test is done. These people are specially trained in how to play with children in hospital and how to help those having tests and investigations. They will help your child play with things like, noisy books and toys, during the blood test in order to help distract him / her away from the procedure and help take away any feelings of discomfort, anxiety and fear they may have
- The "magic cream" will be wiped away and your child will be ready for their blood test. A nurse will squeeze your child's arm or wrist - this makes the vein fill up with blood and makes it easier for the blood sample to be taken
- A needle is then inserted into the vein - the needle is then connected to a syringe and the blood taken out
- When the required amount of blood is taken, the needle is removed. The small wound is pressed on with cotton wool for a few minutes to stop the bleeding and prevent bruising. A sticky plaster is then put on
- While the nurse puts the blood into bottles, your child will be encouraged to choose a bravery certificate and sticker to help them feel they have achieved the goal of having blood taken

Information for patients

Different Blood Samples

Blood can be tested for many different things. Your GP will write on the form which tests they want us to take. Different blood bottles are used for different tests – this is why you may see your blood added to bottles of different sizes and colours.

Benefits of Having a Blood Test

The results of the blood test & possibly other tests may help your GP establish what is making your child unwell. Without these tests this process may take longer.

Any complications?

- Sometimes a bruise develops where the needle was put in. This is much less likely to happen if you press over the site with cotton wool for a few minutes, keeping your child's arm straight
- As with any wound, an infection may develop where the needle was put in - this is very unlikely but you must see your GP if the site becomes red or sore
- Rarely, some people feel faint during a blood test. Your child (or yourself) will be encouraged to lie down if this happens to prevent fainting
- Occasionally it can be difficult to find a vein from which to take the blood and it may take more than one attempt to obtain a sample

Alternatives

There is currently no alternative method available to obtain a blood test from your child.

Results

Unless you are told differently by your GP, the results from your child's blood test will go back to him / her - this may take up to one week but may be longer depending on the reason the blood test is being performed. He / she should contact you once the results are available.
